

Lubecore Technical Announcement

Lubecore Axle Kit Update – 50.079

Lubecore is pleased to announce the addition of an Axle Kit, part number 50.079 (Figure 1), into our parts manual. The kit includes two greaseable clevis pins and fittings (as seen in Table 1), meaning the kit contains enough parts to grease a single axle. This update is being made as we continue to improve and increase our in-house parts production.

Development

We are also excited to announce future development regarding the design of a brake stroke indicator. The newly designed 20.001 cube (as seen in Figure 2) will support the standard brake stroke indicator allowing for ease of inspection. The part number for this update will be released in the future.
